About the Consortium

SJMSOM, at IIT Bombay announces a two day national consortium of PhD students on "Management in the 21st Century" during November 30-December 1, 2015. The main objective of the consortium is to provide a platform for doctoral students of management and social sciences across the globe for presenting and discussing their research findings with other fellow colleagues. It is expected that the latest research, principles, perspectives, techniques and strategies in all fields of management will be addressed. It will also provide an opportunity to the outstanding doctoral students of management, social sciences and other allied areas to discuss their research work with other doctoral students and leading researchers in management.

Format of the Consortium

The consortium will include selected paper presentations by the doctoral students along with invited talks by leading experts in different domains of management. Doctoral students will get feedback on their research work for further improvement to publish and build network with peers as well as distinguished experts.
